

Ulm Diversity Week 2024

Ulm is a diverse city - but what does diversity actually mean and how do we live it in Ulm? For us, diversity means having a unified vision for different identities and working against structural discrimination in our urban society. Diversity is the opposite of exclusion, hatred and agitation - for us, diversity is the advocacy of an open society in which everyone can participate, regardless of who they are and how they see themselves.

Around 30 Ulm-based associations, initiatives, individuals and companies are taking part in the programme in the 1st Ulm Diversity Week. They will present their visions of diversity with various contributions in this 1st Ulm Diversity Week - a strong signal against simple mindedness and against the claims to power of individuals.

You are warmly invited to the various events:

- get involved, join in the discussion
- talk, eat, drink and dance together
- be inspired and educate yourselves

We all want to have the same opportunities in Ulm and be able to live in Ulm as we are and as we want to be, without fear or threat. This week we celebrate the diversity of our city together!

Show solidarity, stand up for each other, shape your city! Because Ulm is just as diverse as the people who contribute to it!

Note: The programme is for example available online in German, French, Turkish, Ukrainian and Easy German.

Where:	Pfauengasse 28, Ulm
Accessibility:	yes, access with ramp
Registration:	not required
Language:	German, without sign language interpreter
Costs:	free of charge

Children's books convey knowledge, values, images of people and the world, encourage action and enable identification. However, many children's books contain stereotypical, discriminatory and degrading representations and are geared towards securing existing white dominance.

With a view to prejudice-conscious and discrimination-sensitive education and upbringing, we as parents, grandparents, readers or educators are invited to reflect on our own "image of the world" and, on the other hand, to take a critical look at the children's books we read aloud and also at the play materials.

The Weltladen Ulm invites interested adults to read and reflect together with Karin Wirnsberger, education officer for global learning and ESD.

Discussion on Coming Out in the Family

Hosted by: Grüne Jugend Ulm
When: 5:00 to 7:00 pm
Where: Grünes Haus, Heimstraße 7, Ulm
Accessibility: yes
Registration: required until 09.06. at:
<https://eveeno.com/vielfaltswochegespraechsrunde>
Language: German, without sign language interpreter
Costs: free of charge

As a queer person, coming out within the family is often a very difficult topic that can be accompanied by fear and uncertainty, even though it can be so important for one's own self-image and identity within the family. It is not uncommon for one's own identity to be met with little acceptance or even rejection. We want to talk to you about coming out within the family and fundamental social problems in this context and give an invited person the opportunity to share real experiences with us in dialog form. You are very welcome!

"I need you as an enemy." - Lecture on Antisemitism
